Louis F. Marshall, the Cambridge boy who played an important part in the Hawaiian revolution, and who was pardoned Aug 15, will soon arrive home. Marshall is 20 years of age. Three Years ago his uncle, William E. Foster, who had lived in Hawaii for many years, came to Honolulu to start a business in Honolulu, prevailed upon Louis to accompany him thither while he was in this country.

A short time after he arrived in that country, young Marshall embarked in the saddlery business as manager for his uncle, who was a recognized adviser of the queen and very close to the throne.

When the revolution started young Marshall was claimed by the rebels as a royalist with arms and ammunition, and on this charge he was arrested and taken to the imprisonment. His friends in Cambridge impregnated his name with G. W. Russell, began a movement to secure his pardon.

It was claimed undoubtedly have succeeded some months ago but just as the final papers were about to pass between the authorities in this country, the queen died and the king died. Immediately upon Sec Olney's taking charge of the state department, G. W. Russell presented the case on his attention. It was finally decided that the doors of the prison swing open and Marshall was released.

After his release he had been confined, and upon his release he immediately returned to his home, being one of the conditions of his pardon.

$25 MORE FOR THE LINDENS.
United City, a Social Organization of Roxbury, Handsomely Remembers the Unfortunate Family.

Sympathetic and charitable persons already have been heard from in response to the appeal for aid for the Highlanders, whose sad case of destitution has already been reported in the columns of The Globe.

Living in the South End, it is a blacksmith by trade, but for some time has been suffering in the last stages of consumption. His wife died some time ago, and he has been unable to support his late wife has struggled hard to maintain a home.

Several months past he has become unable to work, and what little income has been derived by the family has been used to pay for the medical treatment of the old boy, who earned $3 a week by working outside of the regular school hours.

The little fellow was arrested Friday morning by a patrolman of the Hersey street.

The boy's absence from school appears to have been wholly due to his father's illness. He was taken into custody as he was about to be arrested has aroused a wave of indignation among the Highlanders, who are conversant with the case and who are rather inclined to believe the officers were in the wrong.

Generous contributions to aid the Lindens have been sent through the agency of The Globe have been acknowledged by

In addition to the same the sum of $25 was yesterday received by The Globe, in the accompanying communication, which is self explanatory:
To the Editor of The Globe:
We, the members of the United Fifty, a social organization of Roxbury, Mass., recognizing the urgency of the case of Mr Lennon, and wishing to show our sympathy in a substantial manner, desire to donate through the columns of your paper the sum of $25 to his relief, and hope that any other charitably inclined persons or organizations wishing to help a worthy family will speedily follow our example.
(Signed) Jerome Kelly, Pres.
Martin Finnerty, Sec.

Boston, Sunday, Sept. 22.
The $25 thus contributed was sent to Mr Lennon early last evening, and it is hardly necessary to state that he was highly gratified by the kindness thus exhibited by his neighbors.
Any other contributions which Globe readers may wish to send the unfortunate Lennon family will be forwarded by The Globe

STRUCK BY A THROWN GLASS.

John Madden of Waltham Nearly Died from Loss of Blood.

WALTHAM, Sept. 22.—John Madden, aged 18, became involved in a dispute with three or four young men of about his own age on Elm at last night, and during the quarrel, that fellow he recognized as a blow on the forehead, which threw at him by one of the party. The missile cut a severe gash in his wrist, and he was taken into a drug store, where he was treated for the wound, which Madden went home. He did not return until about 11 o'clock, when he immediately retired after entering the house. The banilage became worse during the night, and he was taken to the hospital. This morning the young man's mother found him almost exhausted from loss of blood.

Dr. McKenty was called in, and after a hasty examination ordered Madden's removal to the hospital, where it was found that the glass had severed an
